[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Waupaca.—The failure of the 1923 legislature to pass a bill revising the Wisconsin income tax system was due directly to the manner in which Governor J. J. The free attractions are requiring more money to put them on; and exhibits are expected to lead the state, for premiums have been added until $3,750 will be expended outside of the speed department.

In addition, the Elkhorn exposition is one of the few fairs in the state that made money last year. This is shown in the fair report in the Wisconsin Blue Book for 1923.

The gate and grandstand receipts for the leading fairs, as shown, are as follows:

It belonged to no regiment nor battalion and was a single unit in itself. This company represents Michigan and Wisconsin and is the only one of its type in these states.

and salary boosting looked out over the state. There has been great effort made at the capitol, and propaganda sent out, pretending to show that this is not so. You will find that their proof consists in the fact that they are not taking money out of the general fund, but out of the highway fund. In other words, they are getting it out of your other pocket.

Army of Employees
"We now have in Wisconsin 71 commissioners, boards and bureaus, these departments employ an army of people, many of them called inspectors running about the state spending money I am unable to give an estimate of their number. It has been suggested that there is now one inspector for every fence post in the state. The state pay roll is now larger than the family Bible.

"The newspapers have been full of announcements of appointments to the different offices. It is getting too heavy. The result of it was noticeable in the last session when charges of padded accounts, bribery and corruption were made, not only by members on the floor, but it was common talk around the capitol.

Investigation Opposed.
"It is unfortunate that the governor, instead of joining in and asking for an investigation, opposed it, and was the means of its defeat. His private secretary did the unusual thing when this vote was taken to be lobbying in the senate and asking senators to vote against the investigation. He congratulated some of the senators because they had been able to put it to sleep. Since that investigation was killed, several of the senators who helped on the job, have been given places on the state pay roll and fat jobs.

"Besides the wrong done in a financial way, it was also charged that women have been lobbied in the capitol. The investigation as to corrupt conduct can be killed by politicians in office, but it will mean much to small tax payers who are unable to find enough money to pay taxes. The fact that women are assaulted at the capitol may not mean much to office holders who are drawing a fat salary. It means a great deal more to parents and mothers who wonder if the same treatment will be accorded their daughters."

you do your own work?

Pretty white hands for housewives. A new idea in a household soap—for kitchen and laundry

Your hands tell the world more than you would ever permit your lips to tell. Ugly hands tell a story of kitchen work—the of the dish pan and the scrubbing pail. Pretty hands are a mark of gentility—as all the world knows. You can have whichever kind you prefer. Just because you do your own work—maybe even the family washing—is no reason you should take every casual acquaintance into the secret.

5c a month for lovely hands

We have perfected a new household soap harmless to hands. It is called Green Arrow. It is made with olive oil combined with other effective powerful cleansing ingredients.

Your Hands
Tell the Story

Rough, ugly hands tell a story to the world. A story of the kitchen, the laundry, the scrub bucket. Most women do housework. But few want to tell it to every chance acquaintance. Most laundry soaps contain 25 to 50% water glass. This adulterant, technically known as silicate of soda, is invariably accompanied by an excess of caustic. It is this "filler"—not soap—that ruins hands! Green Arrow is made with the precision of a toilet soap and is pure soap. Now you can have white and lovely hands regardless of how much kitchen work you do. For your hands and your clothes sake, go to your grocer and insist on buying GREEN ARROW.

Green Arrow Soap contains no toxic poisons. It is safe for general household use—Chips (or flakes) for laundry and fine fabrics. Both offer you unusual advantages.

REVIVED INTEREST SHOWN AS COUNTY FAIR OPENS GATES

and Son, Angus from W. L. Gelback, Pole Shorthorns from the Boynton farms and shorthorns shown by J. W. Lathers and J. J. McCann and sons.
Judge Thursday.
In the Jersey line-up there are nine entries in the county show herds and a full herd from E. E. Wyatt, Tomah, to be entered.
It is evident that judging time will mean something to the fair patrons for there will be competition in every breed and for grand championships, the winners in the breed classes are pitted against other winners.
A class for Milking Shorthorns was added by the fair board with the same premium money as the other breeds.
All the stock is in good condition, ready for the judging ring.
Venture Junior Clubs.
There will be a full line-up of swine for the following prizes are expected: Duroc—Clarence George, George Morrison, George Penn and Son, George Penn and Clarence Craft; Poland—Chas. Veva, Divan, champion pig club of the state, Louis Reese, Brooklyn, A. O. Purseth and John Thompson and son, George Francis will exhibit. In the Hampshire line William Patterson, M. L. Johnson and Thomas Johnson have made entries. Sheep entries were reported to be heavy.
Over in a large tent the boys and girls of Rock county are putting the final touches to their junior club stock. The class of dairy calves and pigs that were on the grounds Wednesday morning were superior to the stock that have been exhibited in the juniors in any previous years. Many of the Holstein calves would win places in any open competition in Wisconsin, being good in type and fitted well by their youthful owners.
To Judge Friday.
The judging on the junior club stock will start Friday at 1 p. m. and this feature will attract many people. The same men judging the open classes will judge the junior club stock.
The track for the speed program is lightning fast and ready for the long races Thursday.
Everything was being pushed Wednesday in order to have every exhibit in its proper place and ready for the crowds by Thursday.
Dr. Arthur J. Williams, Janesville, Wisconsin livestock commissioner, has charge of a novel meat exhibit put on jointly by the National Live Stock Exchange and the state. In a huge ice box are meat specimens obtained from cattle and swine infected with tuberculosis. This exhibit is an excellent illustration of the ravages caused by T. B. infections among meat animals.
By Thursday morning Evansville will be ready to set a new attendance record for the Rock county fair—for the fair is worth seeing.

To Make Money
By BILLY WINNER.
If I Were a Purchasing Agent—

I COULD easily make some money for my firm. As the old machinery and equipment is displaced by the new, instead of letting the old material lie around and litter up the plant and office, I could sell it and convert it into usable cash. This applies to anything

There are many manufacturers and business men who can use just the equipment which has been displaced. They are looking for it. I'd simply run an ad in the Jamesville Gazette Classified Section.

I could also make advantageous purchases through the Janesville Gazette, by advertising my wants. Thus I could also buy equipment at good prices.
